Two days ago, our classmate, Cat won the International Karate Contest. She presented herself very well and I'm writing here, on our forum, to express how proud all of us are of her. When Cat told me about it, I got extremely happy. I'm sure you all know, how much she was struggling to achieve her goals in this martial art. I'm not going to lie, I wanted to run there to Warsaw and congratulate her. That's why we need to think about some kind of surprise for her. We need to let Cat know that we are so happy for her and so proud that our classmate is a master in her passion! Let me know here about your ideas, guys!
