A: Hi, good morning.
B: Good morning. How are you feeling?
A: Much better this morning. It isn't so windy and the sea is nice and flat.
B: Yes, it's a perfect day. We should arrive in Cyprus by lunchtime.
A: I'll be glad to get there. This is a great way to travel but two nights is enough. I'll be happy to feel the ground under my feet again.
B: Are you returning to Athens the same way?
A: No, I'm going to stay on Cyprus for a week and then fly back.

2

A: Come on. Let's go to the beach.
B: I can't.
A: Why not? Haven't you got anything to swim in?
B: Of course I have. I'm wearing my swimming costume, my hat and my sunglasses.
A: So what else do you need?
B: My sun cream. I want to lie on the beach and read my book but I can't. I'll go red.
A: You know what? Let's go and buy some on the way to the beach. Come on.

3

It's very close to the beach so it's easy to get to. You can exchange money there and you can check in or out 24 hours a day which is perfect if you have a flight in the middle of the night. They have maps and guides and the people who work there are very happy to tell you about the local area. The restaurant is on the second floor and the bedrooms are above that.

4

It was terrible. I got to the airport and had to wait ages for my luggage to arrive. I thought they'd lost it and nearly went to complain but finally I saw it. By then, the bus had gone so I had to get a taxi. The driver was terrible. He was so close to having an accident more than once. He nearly hit a police car. In the end, I got out before he killed me. Then, I realised I had no idea where I was and no map.

5

We were camping in Paris. It was really busy and the tents were right next to each other. There were some people from Holland next to us. They were really friendly and they lent us their guidebook which was really useful. One evening, they cooked for us and didn't have any matches so we gave them our lighter. When we woke up, they had gone. We had to use matches for the rest of the holiday.

Hi Martin,

Guess what? I'm in Rome with my family. I've been here for three days. We're staying in a three-star hotel near the central station because it's close to everywhere. Rome is wonderful and never goes to sleep. For example, yesterday I saw the Coliseum and then we went to some parks because it was so hot. Did you know that there are lots of cats in Rome? They don't mind the heat at all. For me it's too warm but, fortunately, it's quite cold in old churches or underground passages.

I'm going to visit the Vatican tomorrow. Maybe I'll see the Pope there?

Hope you're fine. See you next Friday!
